BELLE GLADE — Harry C. Panos, probation and parole supervisor for the Palm Beach County Commission, will discuss "Probation and Parole" at a meeting of the Inter-Archie Council held at Zion A.M.E. Church, at 3:30 p.m.

Fish License Stir Started

"Discussion" with game wardens involved in a mass pounce on the Glades arresting unlicensed fishermen was promised this week by Fred Stanberry, chief of the Okeechobee office of the state game and fresh water fish commission.

Beginning last Thursday, game wardens out of that office hit the Glades cities along Lake Okeechobee with mass arrests of unlicensed persons taking advantage of the current speckled perch run and plenteous of other fish.

Arrests were principally among Negroes, of whom some 20 had been brought before justice of the Peace Joe Cherry in Belle Glade early this week. Game wardens brought charges of fishing without a license and non-resident fishing without a license. Cherry sentenced one group of 12 Negroes to $15 or 10 days in jail, the minimum he could administer.

Canal Point residents protested arrest of several Negroes in a chapter of the Lions Club, and the Lions, Rotary, and other local clubs studying their budgets, the financial picture for the building was brightening.

Saturday and Sunday, May 19 and 20 were tentatively chosen as the dates for the dedication of the building. The combined meeting decided that all clubs would be offered concessions at the two-day event, money-making projects for the building fund.

The Chamber of Commerce board voted to take overall sponsorship of the dedication and program of activities.

The layout plan for the building, prepared with the assistance of Architect Chester A. Come, was accepted. Come has offered to do all plans for the building gratis, his contribution. Building sketches are now in preparation.

Attending the combined meeting Monday were Fund co-chairmen Curtis Chase and F. S. Parrish, F. M. Spanghnessy, Mrs. Norman Kennedy, Mrs. Otto Blech, Mrs. W. W. Cunningham, Melvin Spooner, Robt. Simonson, Lewis Friend, and Mrs. Sasser for the committee; Loren Meredith, Simonson, James H. Wilkins, Jr., Mrs. Blanche Armstrong, and George H. Tucker, Jr., City Council, and Parrish, Louis Gold, and Ed. Williams, Palm Beach, and Spencer, Friend, Mrs. Alma W. Farrow, C. A. Batchelor, and John Thomas, of the C-C board.

Belle Glade Man Dies After Crash

BELLE GLADE — A former postoffice employee and resident of Belle Glade for 20 years, Samuel Eugene Burns, 35, died Sunday morning as a result of an automobile accident in the Tallahassee area.

The son of Mr. and Mrs. Samuel E. Burns, 40, of 130 N. 3rd St., Mr. Burns was a student at Florida State University and was on his way to deliver a newspaper to help out with his college expenses. It was believed that he was on his way to deliver when the accident occurred.

He was born at Grand Ridge, Fla. and married with his parents 12 years ago. He had been in the postoffice for 20 years with the Marine Corps during the Korean War. He was a member of the Belle Glade Jaycees. Before entering Florida State University last September, he had been in the postoffice for 20 years.

He also leaves three sisters, Dorothy, Sarah, and Martha. Funeral services and burial were held in Chattahoochee, with the Clark's Funeral Home of that city in charge of arrangements.

Ladies' Night For Lions

"SOUTH BAY" — The Lions Club was host to the wives at a ladies' night with a buffet dinner. The ladies were entertained by seventh grade boys square-danced. Favors were given.

75 GIRLS IN 5-COUNTY 4-H TO SEW RAMIE CLOTH

BELLE GLADE — Some 75 4-H girls in five counties soon will get a chance to work with ramie cloth. The girls will buy in stores—Glades' grown ramie.

Miss Sara Lee Crech, of the Belle Glades Business & Professional Women's Club, and Dr. R. V. Allison, Everglades Experiment Station, will be in charge of the project with the cooperation of Agriculture Commissioner Nathan Mayo, are making the project possible.

Dorothy Irvin, local blue ribbon winner in the 4-H dress review awards at the Palm Beach County Fair, was among the first 11 girls in this county to receive the material.

Four More Counties — Blue ribbon winners in the reviews of 4-H clubs in St. Lucie, Martin, Broward and Volusia counties will receive material to make a skirt and jacket or dress, of the "hunt club" design ramie woven experimentally in Georgia.

Recipients will work with the material to produce garments for 4-H achievement day in May. Miss Crech will be in charge of the project.

BPW became interested in the project as a means of expanding its membership and to acquaint high school girls with the purposes and aims of BPW. A local technical class in the fiber field know their reactions to handling the material.

Worked with HD — The project group worked out with some demonstration agents and 4-H advisers in each county, according to Miss Crech.

"Our girls will do credit to the material, and are looking forward to working with it," said Miss Crech. The project was taken by the demonstration Agent Elizabeth Pierce said in Belle Glade this week. She said that with the Florida Products Festival recently proclaimed by Gov. Leroy Collins, to put emphasis on state-grown or produced products, BPW's ramie project is especially timely.

She expressed appreciation of the interest shown in the 4-H by the business women's group.

Remember Feb. 20 — Last day for 1956 vehicle tags is Feb. 20, Glades residents are urged to get their tags by the tag bureau offices in Belle Glade and Pahokee. New tags may be purchased at the Chamber of Commerce office in Belle Glade, with Mrs. Edwina C. Young in charge, and the office of Miss Natsy Bachelor in City Hall, Pahokee.

Quoted as to whether two game commission trucks in the area Wednesday were part of the mass check of licenses, Stanberry said the trucks were part of a survey being made by the state studying the fish population of Lake Okeechobee.

The survey is being prepared for F.C.D. in relation to the water level and content changes due to flood control.

Cherry reported that the group of Negroes picked up from Canal Point all along the Lake to Bean City, that he had no protests except from the north area. Some of the Negroes picked up said they were glad to be sent to jail because of the good food, he reported.

When game wardens bring fishermen in, there is nothing he can do but sentence them, Cherry said. He pointed out that $10 is the minimum fine that can be levied, and that he had added the $5 to cover county costs.

JOKER IN WOODPILE: Financial aid to schools sounds good, but the Florida Delegation has found a tricky loophole in the present proposed bill. And they will vote against it. Under the bill as it is written (even without the Powell amendment) no state could receive money which is not making "satisfactory" progress toward integration. This possibility was brought out in a legal opinion written by the American Law Division of the Library of Congress.

If the bill should pass, Florida might have a chance to get about $8 million. But, according to this special legal opinion, the grant could be stopped by a simple stroke of the pen on the part of the commissioner of education or by an executive order of the President — if the Florida schools weren't being integrated "satisfactorily."

This opinion has caused a sudden halt in support of the bill by a number of southern congressmen who were going to support the bill without the Powell amendment. As Congressman Sam Herlong said, "I think integration is too high a price to pay for $8 million. We can do a better job for less money on a state level."

NO FAVORITE SON: People are still urging Senator Holland to run as the state's candidate for president. This would give Florida a strong bargaining spot at the convention. But Senator Holland has declined. His idea is to elect an uncommitted delegate which would serve the same purpose as the "lame-duck" toward both Stevenson and Kefauver, who can look for him to give a lot more energy to Governor Lausche than he would. Our guess is he might even take to the stump for him.

McMurrain, Others To Attend FB Meet

OCALA (Special) — Palm Beach's George McMurrain of Delray Beach and 55 other county Farm Bureau members throughout Florida have been invited to attend the first annual Farm Bureau president conference to be held here Sunday, Monday and Tuesday.

The Florida Farm Bureau Federation's board of directors agreed to sponsor the conference at its recent quarter-annual meeting held in Winter Park.

T. K. McCane, Jr., Winter Park, executive vice president of the state-wide farm organization, said: "It is our hope that each of the county presidents will attend this important meeting. These men are leaders of agriculture in the respective counties, otherwise they would not be heads of their Farm Bureaus. I feel sure that each will contribute valuable information to those from other sections and thereby help solve some of our pressing farm problems."

E. H. Finlayson, Jefferson county seed grower, is president of the organization, which is the largest farm group in the state.

WASHINGTON NEWSLETTER

By Sen. George Smathers

WASHINGTON — A critical problem confronting the elderly person trying to meet the pressures of today's high cost-of-living on a small and fixed income derived from Social Security payments alone.

In continuing concern over the problem, I introduced last year a measure aimed at a partial remedy, and it is now before the Senate Finance Committee.

It has particular significance for Florida, where the hospitable climate has attracted so many elderly people. So recently, at St. Petersburg, I was impressed anew with the great migration of the elderly to Florida. Our state has 186,791 retired people who receive payments under the Social Security Act.

Consider, if you will, the case of the average Florida citizen who paid his or her Social Security tax over the years and now has retired under the program. His Social Security check is $90.71 a month. If he has an income tax, he has an income, the high cost of living may not be such a problem.

But the cost problem is insurmountable if he has only his Social Security and no supplemental income from stocks and bonds, insurance, private retirement funds and the like. So he must turn elsewhere to meet his needs. He must seek employment to play against on a part-time basis—the skill and experience he acquired over the years.

In successive years, however, I have been able to gain congressional approval of amendments to the law enabling him to earn outside income of first $50 and then $100 a month. Now I am proposing to raise the ceiling on his earnings to $125 a month. This should enable the average Florida retiree to gain an income up to $175 a month, including his Social Security.

Of course a limit on outside earnings must be retained, or the program of retirement would be defeated. But, in these times of high prices, $175 a month is not an unreasonable amount. As a matter of fact, only by practicing the greatest economy can a person live adequately on $175.

HELP FOR SMALL BUSINESSMEN: The Small Business Committee is working on a bill, to be available in April, which will make suggestions how the small businessman may save within the framework of the law. Many small businessmen are at a disadvantage in competing with large corporations which can afford to hire experts to point out all the advantages which the small businessman has.

The booklet, "Tax Hints for Small Businessmen," is the result of requests from a number of Florida constituents. The Department of Agriculture has published a booklet on "Tax Hints for Farmers," and we have a supply available.

Brucellosis Eradication Progressing On 5-Yr. Plan

MIAMI — Satisfactory progress in a five-year program aimed at eradicating brucellosis among Florida cattle by 1960 was reported at the annual executive committee meeting of the Florida State Veterinary Medical Association.

Meeting here to blueprint the association's activities for 1956, veterinary leaders from throughout Florida heard a report from the FSVMA large animal committee on present measures in Florida to eliminate brucellosis, also known as Bang's disease.

Brucellosis is a livestock disease which decreases milk production, causes abortions and sterility in cattle and potentially can cause undulant fever in humans who drink milk from diseased cows.

Until late in 1955, Florida's efforts in combating brucellosis were directed at control, rather than complete eradication of the disease. Currently, the veterinarians learned, the aim is to completely wipe out the affliction.

The Florida Livestock Board has employed a director of brucellosis and five advisors, all veterinarians who primarily are concerned with brucellosis education and promotion of calf-hood vaccination among cattle owners. The present program in Florida emphasizes administration of brucellosis vaccine by practicing veterinarians, rather than the FSVMA large animal committee.

The state association is coordinating its anti-brucellosis efforts with the Florida Livestock Board.

The availability of true joy and harmony in spite of seeming discord will be emphasized at Christian Science services this Sunday.

Scriptural selections will include the following from Romans (8:5, 6): "For they that are after the flesh do mind the things of the flesh; but they that are after the Spirit: For to be carnally minded is death; but to be spiritually minded is life and peace."

Truth will at length compel us all to exchange the pleasures and pains of sense for the joys of Soul."

JOKER IN WOODPILE: Financial aid to schools sounds good, but the Florida Delegation has found a tricky loophole in the present proposal. And they will vote against it. Under the bill as it is now written (even without the "power" amendment) no state could receive money which is not making "satisfactory" progress toward integration. This possibility was brought out in a legal opinion written by the Florida Law Division of the Library of Congress.

If the bill should pass, Florida might have a chance to get about $8 million. But, according to this special legal opinion, the grant could be stopped by a simple stroke of the pen on the part of the commissioner of education or by an executive order of the President — if the Florida schools weren't being integrated "satisfactorily."

This opinion has caused a sudden halt in support of the bill by a number of southern congressmen who were going to support the bill without the Powell amendment. Syd Herling said, "This integration is too high a price to pay for $8 million. We can do a better job for less money on a state level."

NO FAVORITE SON: People are still urging Senator Holland to run as a favorite son candidate for president. This would give Florida a strong bargaining spot at the convention. But, Senator Holland has declined. He would like to elect an uninstructed delegation which would serve the same purpose. Known to be lukewarm toward both Stevenson and Kefauver, you can look for him to generate a lot more energy if Governor Leauche should win the nomination. Our guess is he might even take to the stump for him.

McMurrain, Others To Attend FB Meet

OCCALA (Special) — Palm Beach's George McMurrain of DeRay Beach and 55 other county Farm Bureau presidents throughout Florida have been invited to attend the first annual Farm Bureau president's conference to be held here Sunday, Monday and Tuesday. The Florida Farm Bureau Federation's board of directors agreed to sponsor the conference at its recent quarter-annual meeting held in Winter Park.

T. K. McClane, Jr., Winter Park, executive vice president of the state-wide farm organization, said: "It is our hope that each of the county presidents will attend this important meeting. These men are leaders of agriculture in their respective counties, otherwise they would not be heads of their Farm Bureaus. I feel sure that each will contribute valuable information to those from other sections and thereby help solve some of our pressing farm problems."

E. H. Finlayson, Jefferson county seed grower, is president of the organization, which is the largest farm group in the state.

WASHINGTON NEWSLETTER
By Sen. George Smathers

WASHINGTON — A critical problem confronts the elderly person trying to meet the pressures of today's high cost-of-living on a small and fixed income derived from Social Security payments alone.

In continuing concern over the problem, I introduced last year a measure aimed at a partial remedy, and it is now before the Senate Finance Committee.

It has particular significance for Florida where the hospitable climate has attracted so many elderly people. So recently, at St. Petersburg, I was impressed anew with the great migration of retired people to Florida. Our state has 195,781 retired people who receive payments under the Social Security program.

Consider, if you will, the case of the average Florida citizen who paid his or her Social Security tax over the years and now has retired under the program. His Social Security check is $50.77 a month. If he has an additional income for retirement, the high cost of living may not be such a problem.

But the cost problem is insurmountable if he has only his Social Security and no supplemental income from stocks and bonds, insurance, private retirement funds and the like. So he must seek employment to play again—on a part-time basis—the skill and experience he acquired over the years.

In successive years, however, I have been able to gain congressional approval of amendments to the law enabling him to earn outside income of first $50 and then $100 a month. Now I am proposing to raise the ceiling on his earnings to $175 a month. This should enable the average Florida retiree to gain an income up to $175 a month, including his Social Security.

Of course a limit on outside earnings must be retained, or the program would be defeated. But, in these times of high prices, $175 a month is not an unreasonable limit. As a matter of fact, only by practicing the greatest economy can a person live adequately on $175.

HELP FOR SMALL BUSINESSMEN: The Small Business Committee is working on a pamphlet, in April, which will make suggestions how the small businessman may save within the framework of the law. Many small businessmen are at a disadvantage in competing with large corporations which can afford to hire experts to point out all the advantages which the law allows. The booklet, "Tax Hints for Small Businessmen," is the result of requests from a number of Florida constituents.

The Department of Agriculture has published a booklet on "Tax Hints for Farmers," and we have a supply available.

Brucellosis Eradication Progressing On 5-Yr. Plan

MIAMI — Satisfactory progress in a five-year program aimed at eradicating brucellosis among Florida cattle by 1960 was reported at the annual executive committee meeting of the Florida State Veterinary Medical Association.

Meeting here to blueprint the association's activities for 1956, veterinary leaders from throughout Florida heard a report from the FSVMA large animal committee on present measures in Florida to eliminate brucellosis, also known as Bang's disease.

Brucellosis is a livestock disease which decreases milk production, causes abortions and sterility in cattle and potentially can cause undulant fever in humans who drink milk from diseased cows.

Until late in 1955, Florida's efforts in combating brucellosis were directed at control, rather than complete eradication, of the disease. Currently, the veterinarians learned, the aim is completely wiping out the affliction.

The Florida Livestock Board has designated a director of brucellosis and five additional field veterinarians who primarily are concerned with brucellosis eradication and promotion of calf-hood vaccination among cattle owners. The present program in Florida emphasizes administration of the brucella vaccine by practicing veterinarians with vaccine supplied without charge to the cattlemen by the Florida Livestock Board, according to the FSVMA large animal committee.

The state association is coordinating its anti-brucellosis efforts with the Florida Livestock Board.

It is estimated that brucellosis is a communicable disease which can be spread from one animal to another. It is also a disease which can be spread from an animal to a human. It is a disease which can be spread from a human to an animal.

1935 THE SOCIAL SECURITY ACT BECAME LAW

1937 Old-age insurance started for employees in commerce and industry

1939 Insurance protection included for families of workers covered by the law

1950 Self-employed business people, some household workers, and regularly employed farm help brought under the law

1955 Self-employed farmers and nearly all farm workers gained social security insurance coverage

1956 Farmers have already earned one full year of social security credit and NOW it's time to ACT!

what must self-employed farmers do?

If you had net earnings of $400 or more from self-employment in 1955, the law requires that you

- ① Obtain a social security account number if you do not have one.
- ② File a return on Form 1040 (U. S. Individual Income Tax Return for 1955) by April 15, 1956. (However, if you are required to file an estimated tax return and have not done so by January 15, 1956, you should file your tax return on Form 1040 by February 15, 1956.)
- ③ Attach to the return the schedule provided for reporting your self-employment income.
- ④ Send the return and schedule to the District Director of Internal Revenue, with payment of any tax due. The rate of self-employment tax is 3 percent. You pay this tax on the first $4,200 of your net earnings for 1955 even if you don't have to pay any other income tax.

Social security taxes pay for social security benefits. The amount you pay goes into the Old-Age and Survivors Insurance Trust Fund, which is used only for social security purposes. It is from this trust fund that the benefits are paid.

The benefits go to you and your family when you reach 65 if you are earning no more than a certain amount, or when you reach 72 no matter how much you are earning. They go to your family in case of your death at any age.

8 million beneficiaries

Today 8 million people in the United States are receiving more than $415,000,000 every month in old-age and survivors insurance benefits. In Palm Beach County, $541,519.00 is being paid every month to 10,413 people — insured workers, their families, and the families of workers who have died.

how much will you get?

Average yearly earnings	Monthly old-age payments		Monthly survivors payments
	Farmer	Farmer and wife	Widow, child, or parent	Widow and 1 child	Widow and 2 children
$600	$30.00	$45.00	$30.00	$45.00	$50.20
1,200	55.00	82.50	41.30	82.60	82.60
1,800	69.50	102.80	51.40	102.80	120.00
2,400	78.50	117.80	58.90	117.80	157.10
3,000	88.50	132.80	66.40	132.80	177.20
3,600	98.50	147.80	73.90	147.80	197.10
4,200	108.50	162.80	81.40	162.80	200.00

At least 1½ years of work under the law are necessary. The amount of work you need depends on your age.

SCULPTURE DEVELOPMENT BG WOMAN'S CLUB TOPIC

Mrs. R. V. Allison presented a program on the history of the development of the art of sculpture at the meeting of the Belle Glade Woman's Club last Wednesday afternoon. Mrs. Allison's talk was illustrated with slides. She was assisted by her sister, Mrs. Kenneth E. Midgley of Kansas City, Mo.

The devotions were given by Mrs. I. L. Price. During the business session, which preceded the program, Mrs. Thomas Bregger, president, presided. Mrs. Gladys Williams, representing the club at the Everglades Fair Association board of directors, reported that to date the board is undecided as to whether to have a fair this year or not.

It was noted that the chairs at the club house have been done over with plastic seats and backs. Mrs. Bert Roemer, Mrs. Tom Garle, Mrs. U. W. Malcolm, and Mrs. Bregger did this work with the club paying for materials as previously voted.

Mrs. G. L. Connell was voted into membership in the club. Following the program, refreshments were served by hostesses: Mrs. W. C. Balford, Mrs. Roy Bair, and Mrs. Ralph Freeman.

NEW FIBER GLASS AND PLASTIC "AQUAPLANE" IS SELF-PROPELLED, CAN'T SINK OR CAPSIZE

Havre de Grace, Md.—A self-propelled, unsinkable "aquaplane" made of fiber glass reinforced plastic with a honeycomb structure for greater buoyancy has now been developed for sports enthusiasts. The new craft, called the Skin Boat, is being exhibited for the first time at Motor Boat and Sports shows throughout the nation.

Powered by an outboard motor, the Skin Boat can travel at better than 30 knots. For greater safety, the engine is installed in the bow and automatically shuts off if the rider falls. The boat is virtually unsinkable and cannot be easily upset while in use.

The new craft will retail for under $600, 7 hp engine included, and it can carry for two hours on its one and one half gallons of gas.

Ruggedly built of fiber glass reinforced plastic and honeycomb by Luria-Courmand Inc., the complete Skin Boat with motor weighs approximately 155 lbs. and can be carried by two people.

It is resistant to corrosion, rot, marine borers and the elements. It has molded-in color in addition to sprayed lacquered trim. Special painted designs will be available to a customer's requirements.

The motor of the Skin Boat is started manually, and the speed is adjusted by a throttle on the dashboard. It is steered by shrink-proof tiller ropes which pass through tubular rails back to the rudder.

Both the rudder and propeller are detachable, providing a flat underneath surface for slipping or for carrying on the deck of a larger boat or top of an automobile.

The Skin Boat incorporates designs and practices developed over the many years this firm has specialized in the engineering and fabrication of structural plastics and bonding materials, according to Grant A. Sattum, company vice-president. The Skin Boat marks the firm's entry into the small pleasure craft field.

NEGOTIATIONS —

100 used theatre seats through Louis Glade to replace the old wooden benches in the Commission chamber.

Belle Glade Motors, Inc., was low bidder on the two new 34-ton pickup trucks for the water department, with $3,490 total as against a total of $4,967.70 by Glades Chevrolet Co.

Livingston and Commissioner Marvin Unwin held out for splitting the bid so that each company might get one sale. Commissioner Z. T. Ingram, voting to award the sale to the low bidder, said he had tried to educate the commission on not necessarily taking the cheapest bid on anything.

"Why didn't you come along with us... all we need is one more," Livingston replied.

Florida Food's request for exemption from the tax roll on the basis of having come under the "new industry" tax exemption by adding a pre-cool plant was granted. Livingston and Unwin voted against, with Mayor Walter Ashley putting the deciding vote.

Livingston moved that the American Legion be put on the exemption list, but the motion died for a lack of second after Ashley pointed out there had been no official request, therefore no official action could be taken. "I'll go along with you boys when you're right," he added.

The $11,703 in the swimming pool account will be taken from the city books and segregated as a "swimming pool donations" account. Commissioners voted in adopting an emergency ordinance on the matter.

An ordinance setting storage and towing charges for abandoned and illegally parked vehicles, and empowering the chief of police to sell them at public sale after a 60-day period was challenged by Commissioners Eugene Ellis and Unwin.

Written as an emergency ordinance for passage at the meeting, the draft was tabled for revision of the illegal parking sections.

In other actions, Commissioners:

APPOINTED James L. Motes to the master plumbers' board; AGREED to tie in water from the city's six inch line to supply the new state building adjacent to the county barn, provided the pipe is furnished; VOTED to confer with Throp in the recent bad water situation, and absolved him from any responsibility in the matter. Ingram set the style note of the evening, in a salmon-colored corduroy shirt and gaucha tie.

GIRL SCOUT NEWS!

Dr. Victor Guzman of the Everglades Experiment Station staff, and a native of Peru gave an illustrated talk on that country to fifth grade intermediate Girl Scout Troop 133 at their meeting last Thursday afternoon at the Girl Scout Hut. He was introduced by Mrs. Culley Collins. This program was in celebration of International Friendship month, which is always the month of February in the Girl Scout calendar. It also served as a part of the requirements for second class rank for the girls, in that it provided a study on a foreign country, given by a native of that country.

Troop No. 135, the second grade Brownie troop divided into three smaller groups for their activities for a few weeks. Their first group went with Mrs. George Legost to the nursery at Osceola Camp where Julian Griggs instructed them in pottery-making. They will return next week for a second session. Each of the three small groups will meet with Mr. Griggs for two weeks until all of the girls in the troop have had this opportunity.

A second group went with Mrs. Wallace Lutz to visit the local radio station, WSWN, while the third group met at the hut with Mrs. Herbert Chapman and Mrs. James Wierengo and made valentines.

Mrs. Richard Hodges' third grade Brownies, Troop 132, made hand puppets out of cloth last Wednesday at their meeting, and this week spent their time learning Brownie songs.
